1. Computer purchases – in place for summer
 - a. If a Mac is purchased through the CU Marketplace, it will come shipped to campus, like before. However, faculty will just need to login and download their own software from our store. We can still build the Mac for them, but they can start to use it right away. This is a new process and will be communicated to campus when the service is ready. However, our goal is to streamline the process since, you are completely right, it takes too long. Even pre-pandemic, it took too long. This process allows a much faster turn around.
 - b. If a PC is purchased through the CU Marketplace (Dell), it will come shipped to campus, like before. However, the PC will come shipped with everything already imaged. No more taking it to the Help Desk. There is a 5-minute call to the Help Desk to finalize the setup, but it will come with everything on it already. This is a drastic change from the way we have done imaging in the past. In order to do this successfully and support faculty the same, we are narrowing down the selection online to 6 different models. However, these models represent 95% of the purchases in the last few years.
 - c. There are always going to be one-offs and we will continue to work with faculty on those systems.
2. Canvas
 - a. Panopto – retention policy; currently set to “hide” when no views over 3 years; considering deleting; considering 2 years
 - b. Zoom recordings – now automatically map to Panopto course folder
 - c. Feedback Fruits – discussion feedback and a lot more; pilot in summer
3. CU Online Initiative
 - a. Standard Programs Service Agreement in draft
4. General gab session
